PROBLEM :

Most beginner traders don't actually have a trading plan.

Instead, they

- Enter trades based on emotion
- Change decisions every time
- Risk too much without control
- Follow random signals or ideas

Because of this:

- No consistency
- No clear direction
- Continuous losses

Without rules, every trade becomes different.
And that leads to confusion.

TRADING PLAN

- A trading plan is a set of rules you follow in every trade.
- It removes confusion and helps you make clear decisions.

A PROPER TRADING PLAN DEFINES :

What to trade

→ Select specific pairs (Ex: XAUUSD, EURUSD)

When to enter

→ Only after confirmation (not random entry)

How much to risk

→ Fixed risk per trade (Example: 1%)

When to exit

→ Predefined Stop Loss and Take Profit

SYSTEM (DETAILED) : Simple Trading Plan (Step-by-Step) :

1. Identify Trend (H4) :

Understand the overall market direction.

- Uptrend → look for buy
- Downtrend → look for sell

Never trade against the trend.

2. Mark Key Levels :

Draw zones where price reacts.

- Support
- Resistance
- Demand / Supply zones

Market respects zones, not exact lines.

3. Wait for Confirmation (H1) :

- Don't enter immediately.
Wait for:
 - Structure break
 - Rejection
 - Strong reaction
- No confirmation = No trade

4. Risk Only 1% :

- Control your losses.
 - Risk small per trade
 - Protect your capital
- One wrong trade should not damage your account.

5. Follow Rules Strictly :

- This is the most important step.
 - Don't change plan emotionally
 - Don't overtrade
 - Don't break rules
- System works only if you follow it.

Don't change your plan every trade.
Don't chase quick profits.

Consistency comes from discipline, not luck.

Serious about improving your Trading?

“A trading plan doesn’t make you perfect.
It makes you consistent.”
